Salt[®] compliance

●●● MAKE COMPLIANCE TRAINING WORK

Regulators worldwide keep introducing new rules and raising expectations about compliance. For companies, the burden of compliance training continues to rise.

Yet compliance training is universally disliked and often ineffectual. How do you turn a painful annual read of the same material into an engaging learning experience that helps protect your company against risks?

●●● CHALLENGES WITH COMPLIANCE TRAINING

- 1 Keeping demands on employees' time reasonable. Compliance training requirements are high. The time needed to manage and complete courses creates substantial and increasing costs for businesses.
- 2 Managing perception of compliance training by employees. Staff complain about undertaking the same training every year. They are liable to stop paying attention to what they view as a box-ticking exercise that doesn't take into account what they already know.
- 3 Updating courses to stay consistent with latest regulations. Regulations change frequently, making it harder to deliver up-to-date, high-quality courses at a reasonable cost
- 4 Demonstrating compliance to regulators and shareholders. Given recent compliance issues in several industries, relevant stakeholders continue to raise expectations about compliance training programs. Reporting on Pass/Fail data only is increasingly inadequate.

Salt courses have a clean interface and are easy to use on any device.

Adaptivity: Salt courses adapt to each learner and provide a personalised learning experience by continuously assessing the individual's knowledge.

●●● BENEFITS OF USING SALT COMPLIANCE POWERED BY BETTER

Companies can save tens of thousands of hours of employees' time by leveraging adaptive learning technology to dynamically personalise compliance training to each individual.

>> Time required by staff to prove competence can be reduced by 50%+.

Time and money can be saved by enabling staff to complete training anywhere, from any device.

>> GRC Solutions' team handles legislative updates and refreshes content regularly.

Analytics and visualisation tools can be used to get a 360 degree overview of employees' awareness and skills.

>> By analysing both individual and aggregated learning data, the technology allows companies to understand compliance knowledge gaps.

Companies can obtain forensic training evidence

>> Rather than try to argue that employees 'passed their compliance training', companies can demonstrate detailed proof of what and when a given employee saw and answered, to each click and second.
